The Restriction of Immigration.

The Restriction of Immigration.

A dispatch from Chicago describing the recent riot on the streets of that city, in which a number of policemen were seriously injured, states it as a noticeable fact that all those participating in the riot were foreigners.

It is a noticeable fact, and one which is forcing itself very prominently upon the notice of Americans, that, not only in the riot referred to, but in almost all similar outbreaks of a lawless character, the participants are of foreign birth. From most in New York to the Anarchists in Chicago and Denis Kearney in San Francisco, and the Italian Mafia in New Orleans, on every hand we find the foreign element to the front when it is a question of defying the law of the land.

There are Americans who are asking whether it is not about time to put down the bars on promiscuous immigration, when thousands of honest and industrious native-born citizens are asking for bread, and thousands of recently-arrived foreigners are threatening to take by force not only bread but blood. This is a far more important question than that of Chinese immigration, for while Chinese compete with white labor, they do not attempt—at least they have not yet attempted—to take the reins of power in their hands, insult and defy the flag which gives them shelter, and endeavor to reduce this government to a condition of chaos. It is a very fine thing to welcome and shelter the oppressed of all nations, but the time has arrived when Uncle Sam must take a little thought of his own rapidly-growing family, or he will find before long that he is the oppressed and his visitors the oppressors.

Finally, there is another phase of this question. Of what use is the most perfectly-devised system of protective tariff on manufactured goods as long as we invite the under-paid and underfed men of Europe to come and divide the profits of such protection, while working at wages which, while high to them, are not sufficient to provide an American family with the ordinary comfort which our citizens have a right to expect as the result of such beneficent legislation in their favor? So much is this the case that, in many of the Eastern manufacturing towns, it already requires the combined work of every member of the family, including children of tender years, to provide the more necessities of life. Such being the case, we say again that the time has evidently arrived, when the restriction of foreign immigration to the United States has become one of the live questions of the day, which Congress can no longer ignore.

The Chicago That Will Come.

This Democratic administration has turned the affairs of the government over to the South with a free hand. In the House of Representatives, the chairmanships of thirty-two committees have been given to the handful of Southern States in the Union, while to all the great West, North, Central and Pacific Coast States there are allotted but twenty-three chairmanships. It is also noteworthy that all the most important chairmanships go to the South, such as Ways and Means, Appropriations, Coinage, Rivers and Harbors, Pensions, etc. Take the matter of pensions, and at a single glance the extreme absurdity of giving that to a Southern man is at once apparent. It is true the war is over and we are living as one people under one flag, but it is hardly human nature to suppose that the needs of the old soldier, who fought to save the nation, can be fully appreciated, or his interests rightly guarded, by those who fought to destroy the nation. Their warmest sympathies will not be likely to be with him, nor will their eagerness be very strong to see him rewarded. Hoke Smith is not probably ignorant of public sentiment at the South in regard to pensioning the soldiers of our loyal armies, and is well aware that the sentiment of that section will sustain him when he seeks retrenchment of national expenses at the expense of the pensioned soldiers of the North. And it is of this that we complain in the present administration. It is not in sympathy with the life of the soldier who preserved the imperiled life of the nation, but who is assailed by treason. If it really expressed the sentiments of the loyal citizens of this republic, it would prove beyond question that "Republicans are ungrateful." But it does not, and we question if it expresses the honest sentiment of the Democracy at large. There were brave men and true, in their ranks when the country stood torn and convulsed by treason, and the lines were well defined which were drawn between the party in the two sections. Southern Democracy was defiant and hostile and ready to destroy. Northern Democracy, while it had a few magnanimous who were ready to yield everything rather than resort to civil strife, stood with the Union, and furnished its grand army of heroes and martyrs. Its great mistake today is that it joins hands with those who have not yet forgotten the success of our arms, and who would be glad to take from the soldiers who fought in our loyal armies the meager pittance which the government allows them in their old age and helplessness. Men like Hoke Smith are not fit heads for our Pension Bureau, and the loyal portion of the American people are not in sympathy with their official actions. The best representatives of Democracy are against them, and the measures which they are pursuing will result in a reaction of political sentiment that will place in power four years hence the party which has always been the soldier's friend and loyal to the best interests of the whole republic.

Municipal Reform.

Thinking men throughout the United States, of all shades of political faith, are gradually coming to the opinion that the only way to secure satisfactory municipal government in our large cities is to do away with party politics in municipal contests. Sensible voters are beginning to ask more frequently what the policy of the national administration can have to do with the appointment of an assessor, or city clerk, or pound-keeper, a thousand miles or more away from the national capital. A city is, after all, but an improvement company on a large scale, organized for the purpose of expending the money of taxpayers in streets, parks and other necessities and luxuries. If the solid citizens of the community would hang together, irrespective of party, the other fellows would not be "in it."

These ideas have been frequently advocated in The Times, and it is satisfactory to find the following strong expression in the same line of thought from so prominent and influential a journal as the Chicago Tribune: "If the people would disassociate themselves from their old party feelings and the best men of both parties would eliminate themselves from their parties in city elections and act together, making the question simply one of good government or bad government, get rid of the bunnymen, free themselves from saloon dictation, and reform the present abominably corrupt municipal service, which costs five times what it is worth, they would get a good, economical, business-like administration instead of a slovenly, wasteful one, and honest workers instead of loafers, and pay-roll stuffed with 'municipal' bunnymen. They would get a city freed from smoke, stench, filth, garbage and rottenness, better condition than for a long time, with large cash reserves."

Judge Ross rendered another important decision under the Geary act yesterday. The moral of the judge's decision is that if the administration has no means to carry out the provisions of the act, it should settle for the present. He declared that the fruit lands had greatly decreased in value. Judicially to that effect; otherwise, they must follow the law.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—The play of "The Corsican Brothers" is rather too full of speculations, visions, premonitions and other uncanny things for this age of societies for physical research and all that, but, nevertheless, it is a play that makes one think of romance in such splendid fashion as to make it full of thrilling interest. In the costume of a gentleman of today the artist is the very glass of fashion and the mold of form; a picture of that dandy of the olden times, a man he had a regiment of men like that he could whip an army of ordinary mortals. While Mr. Mantell's playing of the dual role of full of fire and spirit, the play does not give scope to his genius for the delineation of character that is afforded in either of the other plays which he has presented.

Yet Alexander Dumas could not wish to see his drama in more capable hands. Mr. Mantell's playing of the role as M. de Chateaufort is played it extremely well. The duel scene in the forest of Fontainebleau was thrillingly realistic, and that Mr. Hastings shared the honors with the star was evinced by the hearty call before the curtain at the close of the scene. The illusions of the dual part were excellently carried out and the house was warm with its plaudits.

Following is the complete cast as presented: Ernest Hastings, Fabien del Franchi and Louis del Franchi. R. B. Mantell, M. de Chateaufort, R. B. Mantell, Baron Montgiron, B. T. Ringgold, Alfred Montgiron, William Stewart, Baron Martelli, W. Moreton Baker, Orlando, George F. Bird, Colonna, George F. Bird, Griffo, a domestic, E. A. Eberle, Judge Sancho, C. A. Odlin, Boland, a woodman, Alfred Sturges, Tomasso, a guide, A. Ellison, Surgeon, Emile de Leprieux, Charles de Leprieux, a domestic, Sfora Savilla del Franchi, Minnie Monk, Marie, a domestic, Nellie Baker, Estelle, Kathleen Kerrigan, Celestine, B. Moreton.

Tonight Mr. Mantell will present for the last appearance that matchless and immortal play, "Hamlet."

THE COMING ATTRACTION.

"Jane" comes next Monday, promising a great laughing festival. Jennie Yeaman plays the title role, and the San Francisco papers have endeavored to outdo each other in lavishing compliments upon her. Johnstone Bennett made a hit here in the last season, but the Bay City critics agree that clever Jane was her playing in the part Miss Yeaman far surpassed any other she has given. In this period of "hard times" everybody is looking for something amusing. A few had made $15 to $20 per act, and one man had made $50 per act on land assessed at $75.

system that would level the industries of free America to the cheap labor basis of Europe. Hoke Smith, by leaders whose eyes were only on the fleshpots, what have the laboring people of "free America" gained by the change? A few new postmasters, a hungry lot of partisans in Congress who talk when the country needs action, and closed factories and demoralized business. Was the "change" a profitable one?

And now the people of Iowa are going about in furs and heavy clothes, and expect a killing frost. It is only a few days ago since they were dying of sunstroke out there, and since then a percentage of the inhabitants have been blown into neighboring townships by a fast cyclone. But then, they are not afflicted with the monotonous sunshine and dust and frightful earthquakes which make the lives of dwellers in Southern California so miserable—at least, according to letters from this section which one occasionally sees in the Eastern papers.

Messrs. Cook and Forrester of the Board of Supervisors, and G. J. Griffith, have returned from Sacramento, where, although handicapped by the absence of the County Assessor, they presented such strong arguments to the Board of Equalization, that the board of the contemplated raise of $250,000 is considered probable that there will be little or no raise at all.

The Salvation Army in San Francisco is doing the work of practical Christianity, and is making arrangements to feed 1200 men daily, and to give that number comfortable lodgings during the winter months. Christianity of this type is what the world needs more of. It is folly to talk to a man about his spiritual needs with an empty stomach clamoring loudly to be filled.

At the ceremonies attending the turning of the first sod for the Midwinter Fair in San Francisco, Irving M. Scott declared that the fair would mark the inauguration of an industrial era in the State. Whether it does or not it will depend largely on two things—the suppression of the boycott and the patronizing of home production by consumers.

Food for thought on the financial question is furnished by the condition of Mexico, a silver country par excellence. A dispatch states that there have been no large failures in that country, and that the banks are in a better condition than for a long time, with large cash reserves.

THE ASSESSMENT.

Strong Plea Against a Raise.

Supervisors Before the State Board of Equalization.

Los Angeles County Already Assessed Too High.

Reasons Why the Valuations Should Not Be Changed from the Amounts Fixed—Facts and Figures in Extension.

Supervisors Cook and Forrester returned yesterday afternoon from Sacramento, where they have been during the past few days engaged in making a case before the State Board of Equalization in the endeavor to convince the members of the latter body that Los Angeles county's assessment should not be raised. For several years past the State board has made the complaint that the assessments of the county were too high, and that the fruit and other property assessed higher than it had been, and that a similar raise should be made on all income producing property. During the past year prices of fruit and other produce have been far below the nominal, but, notwithstanding this fact, Assessor Scott increased the amount of assessment about 15 per cent., and then in the face of this came the notification from the State Board of Equalization that it was proposed to raise the assessment, and for representatives of the county to appear before them.

Supervisors Cook and Forrester made a strong presentation of the case for the county before the board at Sacramento on Monday, covering the whole ground most thoroughly, and leaving no point untouched which might illustrate the extreme unfairness of the assessment.

In Tuesday's issue of the Sacramento Record-Union, the following report of the Los Angeles county hearing before the board is given:

"In the afternoon J. W. Cook, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Superintendent E. A. Forrester, Andrew Scott, Assessor, and G. J. Griffith, in behalf of Los Angeles county, they presented such a formidable appearance that the board did not feel competent to stand them off till two belated members made their entry, and the interest on the $74,854,547 assessment of the county during the half-hour's delay amounted to a nice little sum."

"Mr. Cook said the county was placed in a disadvantageous position through the action of the State board, and desired to call attention to the fact that their fruit lands had greatly decreased in value. Judicially to that effect; otherwise, they must follow the law."

"The depressed state of the fruit and nut interests had determined him not to raise the assessment, and he desired to call attention to the fact that their fruit lands had greatly decreased in value. Judicially to that effect; otherwise, they must follow the law."

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kremer, on Elkhart and Hope streets, was the scene of a brilliant gathering yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Eda Kremer and James W. Hellman. The entire double residence was utilized, and although invitations were limited to immediate friends and relatives, there was a throng of bidden guests in attendance. The marriage ceremony took place at 4 o'clock, and was performed by Dr. A. Blum. The wedding party stood in the decorated drawing-room, beneath a canopy of white moire silk embroidered in gold, the whole festooned with pink and white roses. Around the room ran delicate trails of smilax brightened by flowers. The rear of the drawing-room was beautifully banked with masses of astors, and across a corner a spray of bamboo drooped gracefully. A dainty butterfly effect was achieved in one of the chaperons, with illusion, greens and flowers, while one of the most attractive spots was a nook of bamboo in the entrance hall, which was studded with floral lanterns.

The bride gown was cream-white silk, covered with mousline de sole edged with satin ribbon and lace, and the pretty toilette orange blossoms were worn and carried. Miss Azile Kremer, maid of honor, was in yellow silk, and Miss Frida Hellman, bridesmaid, was in old rose. A. Fleishman was best man, and Fred Kremer, groomsmen.

A wedding dinner was served under lights, the table being profusely decorated with white roses, and covers laid for forty guests. The evening reception was a gay and delightful one, the two families and their most favored friends being present.

A MERRY PICNIC.
A select picnic was held a few days since at Merry Grove, Boyle Heights. Little Mary Lindley, aged 6 years, was elected queen of the day, and swayed the center of gravity of the subjects were Viola Fontaine, Lucy Lewis, Marguerite Arnold, Nellie Carr, Fay Lewis, Emily Carr, Masters Willie and Jack Richardson, and a host of other merry party in a Merry Grove.

On Thursday, the 24th inst., Jesse P. Lukens of Verdugo was married to Miss Eoline V. Stratton of Chester, Pa. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Dr. George H. Worrall of Santa Clara. Rev. A. P. Anderson officiating.

A NEAT COMPLIMENT.
The Saratoga Daily Register, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in its issue of August 22, pays a Los Angeles resident the following compliment:

"H. J. Kramer, master of ceremonies at the Clarendon Hotel, has rendered a benefit by Halsted & Root, proprietors of the hotel. It was also Mr. Kramer's last appearance in his official capacity, as he has been transferred to the Clarendon Hotel, and from that city he goes to his home in Los Angeles, Cal. The benefit was an unqualified success, and the social season at the Clarendon Hotel was a success. That he succeeded all will agree who have had the pleasure of attending the Clarendon Hotel social season. Mr. Kramer has had a valuable assistant in his charming wife, who has won her way to the hearts of all by her sweet manner."

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.
Last Friday afternoon about forty young folks gathered at Simon's Hall on Second street for the purpose of tendering Miss Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klein, a surprise party in honor of her birthday anniversary. It proved a complete surprise, and there were many remembrances from the young friends, of which the birthday girl was very grateful. Refreshments were passed, and an afternoon of enjoyment was spent. Among those present were: Misses Lyser, Birde, Sphers, Nellie, Minnie, Arons, Carrie Levy, Elsie Dickler, Merriam Morris, Pauline Morris, Pearl Arons, Gummerson, and a host of other friends. The birthday girl was very happy, and the party was a great success.

YOUNG MEN PERSONALS.
The most excellent artists upon the concert stage in Chicago, about to make Los Angeles their home. Mrs. Kempton also has wide reputation as a teacher of music, but her presence for California on account of the attractions of our climate.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley E. Hamilton have returned to Los Angeles after a short visit to relatives in Riverside. Miss Lou Youngkin, librarian of the San Diego Public Library, is paying a brief visit to the city on Tuesday next. She will leave for Los Angeles on September 15, and will stay at an extended trip.

Mrs. L. E. Garmey and daughter, Miss Ethel, left yesterday for the East. Miss Abby S. Marsh of South Hope street is passing a week in the country. Mrs. L. E. Neuner of Boyle Heights has been one of the guests at Bellevue Cottage, Santa Monica, for the past week. She will remain a week or two longer.

Mrs. A. W. Barrett has left the city for Indianapolis, Ind., where she will attend as a delegate the National Encampment of the G. A. R. Mrs. Barrett will be absent from the city for several weeks.

A Blue Ribbon Chef.
(Harper's Bazar) In Europe a man who begins as a scullion forever, for a while washing potatoes until there is so little left of them that they might have fallen from heaven, and making salad herbs as free from dirt as the dew on a rose, he pays a liberal tribute in money to the cook just above him, and when he has learned all that man knows, pays another and a larger sum to that man's superior, and so on through the whole round until nothing remains to be learned and he has spent far more than his wages, and is like a man who has a liberal education costs. But when he has reached that point he has mastered all points; he knows perfectly well how to do this, and this, and roast, boil, bake, fry, broil, and knows moreover all about sauces, soups, pastries, sweets and fancy dishes. He expects to practice no one of these branches himself with his own hands; he has, so to say, understudies in them. He represents, he himself is like the reader of the score and the directors of a grand orchestra.

Nor is this all he must know. Usually he has made himself able to speak French, German, Spanish and English. He has some knowledge of the arts; he is a chemist, a modeler, a colorist, more or less of an artist, a designer, a man of taste, and, necessarily, of more or less reading. He must know something of natural history, the season of game, the product of far countries, the state of markets, and must be acquainted with the events of the day, and he is often obliged to adapt the names of his dishes. He must be an economist, too, allowing no waste by his subordinates, and in order to do this, he must know the exact amounts required in everything, and then he must know all that can be known of sugar, salt, and the whole story of wines.

BANQUETED.

Chamber of Commerce Honors Prof. Lowe.

A Pleasant Gathering Last Night at Redondo.

Speeches in Response to the Great Number of Toasts.

An Informal Reception First Held, the Banquet Following Immediately After—Covers Laid for More Than One Hundred Guests.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce banquet to Prof. T. S. C. Lowe at Redondo last night was a most successful affair from every point of view. The beautiful dining-room of the Redondo was handsomely festooned with the national colors, and elaborately decorated with smilax and cut flowers. The long banquet table was an artistic harmony of fruit, flowers, glass, silver and decorative cookery. Covers were laid for two more than an even 100 guests, and when the orchestra struck up the opening overture there were less than a dozen chairs unoccupied.

The greater number of the guests reached Redondo by special train over the Redondo Railway at 7:30 o'clock, and shortly thereafter the visitors met the guests of the evening informally in the hotel ballroom. The former were Prof. and Mrs. Lowe, Thaddeus Freeman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Prof. and Mrs. Lowe, who led the way into the banquet hall. Col. Freeman occupied the head of the table, and Prof. and Mrs. Lowe at his right, and Judge and Mrs. Lowe at his left. The hour following was devoted to testing the quality of the feast, represented by an elaborate menu.

Col. Freeman, as master of ceremonies, arose at the proper stage of the proceedings and announced that the privilege of proposing the first toast of the evening had been delegated to Judge Slauson.

The Judge painted a glowing picture of the mountain and valley scenery of the Sierra Madre region, with its changing lights and shadows, its summer sheen and its winter snow-capped mountains. The toast was a most timely one. "The Guest of the Evening—Prof. Lowe," he said:

"You, sir, have conquered the mountain heights; you have married the May of the verdure of the hills to the storms and frosts of the December mountains. We crown you the brigadier-general of the grand army of railway builders of the United States and the world."

Prof. Lowe responded briefly, thanking the company for the testimonial of its appreciation, and expressing his appreciation of the expression of good will to himself personally, but yet more for the encouragement given to the work that he was accomplishing, and that yet to be done. There had been, he said, compensation in the midst of difficulties, and he was confident that the future would be a most successful one.

He then turned to the toast, "The Guest of the Evening—Prof. Lowe," and said: "You, sir, have conquered the mountain heights; you have married the May of the verdure of the hills to the storms and frosts of the December mountains. We crown you the brigadier-general of the grand army of railway builders of the United States and the world."

Prof. Lowe responded briefly, thanking the company for the testimonial of its appreciation, and expressing his appreciation of the expression of good will to himself personally, but yet more for the encouragement given to the work that he was accomplishing, and that yet to be done. There had been, he said, compensation in the midst of difficulties, and he was confident that the future would be a most successful one.

He then turned to the toast, "The Guest of the Evening—Prof. Lowe," and said: "You, sir, have conquered the mountain heights; you have married the May of the verdure of the hills to the storms and frosts of the December mountains. We crown you the brigadier-general of the grand army of railway builders of the United States and the world."

Young Apablaza Accused of Forgery.

He Fails to Obey the Summons of the Court.

Another Chapter in the Hamilton vs. Hamilton Case.

Hearing on a Petition for an Order to Allow Hamilton to Visit His Children Summarily Dismissed—Today's Calendar.

John V. Apablaza is in a peck of trouble, and unless he manages to clear himself of the several charges now pending against him, it is more than probable that his lodging place will be behind the prison bars for some time to come.

Young Apablaza is the son of Mrs. Apablaza, the wealthy Spanish lady who owns much of the Chinatown property, but notwithstanding his creditable connections, the youth seems to have become overshadowed by a cloud of disgrace, and all through the want of money, induced by an extravagant and somewhat reckless disposition.

The first complaint in the case against Apablaza was sworn to by A. B. Lugo several days ago in the Township Court. In this it was charged that the defendant on the 21st day of August committed the crime of forgery by falsely and feloniously, and without the consent of Lugo, and with intent to defraud signed the name of the latter to a promissory note drawn in favor of W. G. Bayly for $100.

A warrant for the arrest of the forger was at once issued by Justice Bartholomew, and the defendant was brought before the bar and arraigned. Upon arraignment, the justice, considering that Apablaza was well to do and responsible, allowed him to go on his own recognizance, and ordered that he return yesterday morning at 9 o'clock for examination.

Accordingly when the appointed hour arrived yesterday, the courtroom began to fill up with witnesses and friends, and all was in readiness for the examination. But the defendant came not. Justice Bartholomew, however, is reputed to possess an extraordinary amount of patience, and this quality stood him in good stead, for he sat on the bench a full half hour waiting for the delinquent to appear before continuing the case until afternoon.

At 2 o'clock the same proceeding was again gone through with, but still the wanted man did not put in an appearance. Justice Bartholomew by this time was fast coming to the conclusion that his confidence had been misplaced, and was on the point of issuing a bench warrant at the instigation of the prosecuting attorney, when the defendant's uncle came in to offer explanations. He said that if a continuance could be granted for a few days, he believed that Apablaza would be on hand without a doubt.

The continuance was consented to, and an order was made setting the examination for Saturday.

The crime of forgery, it is alleged, is by no means the only offense for which Apablaza will be called to answer. A number of parties about town claim that he has obtained money and goods from them by giving checks on different banks, all of which checks proved to be worthless, as there were no funds to Apablaza's credit on deposit to cover them.

It is believed that the young fellow was engaged yesterday in trying to settle up these other affairs in order to escape continued prosecution, and did not wish to appear in court until such a settlement was effected.

HAMILTON VS. HAMILTON.
There was a little scene in Department Two yesterday afternoon which furnished an additional chapter in the pending divorce case of Hamilton vs. Hamilton.

When the regular causes set for hearing had been disposed of, Attorney Sam Hamilton, the defendant in the case, acting as his own counsel, arose and addressed the court. He said that a hearing had been set for the following day in Department Six, on an order to the plaintiff, issued by Judge Shaw, requiring Mrs. Hamilton to answer to the petition of the defendant to be allowed to see his children. The plaintiff's attorney was out of town, it appeared, and a continuance was desired by the latter's partner until Mrs. Hamilton's legal adviser returned. Hamilton was willing, he said, to consent to a continuance for one day.

Judge Pierce was on the bench, and before the matter was heard further he called for the papers in the case. The documents were produced. The court took up the affidavit on the petition to show cause. He read it over carefully, folded it up and laid it down. Then with an emphasis he said, addressing Hamilton: "The petition is dismissed. And, further, I shall consider whether or not you are in contempt of this court." Without waiting for a reply went on to remind the attorney, in forcible tones, that the very same petition had been presented to him on the day previous, and that he had then refused to consider it, owing to reasons of lack of jurisdiction and the faulty draughting of the paper. Then, it seemed, Hamilton had at once gone before Judge Shaw and secured the latter's signature to the order.

Several times Hamilton essayed to break in and offer an explanation, but the judge said what he had to say before he ceased speaking, paying no heed to the interruptions.

When Hamilton was finally allowed to offer his explanation, he said that he had understood that Judge Pierce had removed the case from the calendar to some of the other judges on Tuesday, and that was why he had done so.

The court remembered to have said nothing of the sort, but, admitting that such might have been the case, decided to allow the attorney the benefit of the doubt. He then criticized the petition offered for his consideration, and once more gave a final order that the same be dismissed.

A GUARDIAN WANTED.
Among the documents filed with the County Clerk yesterday was a petition to the judge of the Probate Court asking that a guardian be appointed for a young girl named Amelia Barre. It appears that the minor has left her home and betaken herself to the house of a friend, by reason of harsh treatment received at her mother's home. The substance of the petition is as follows:

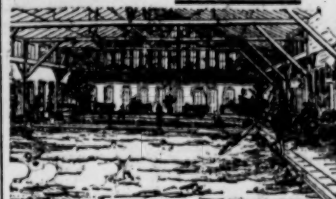

"Mrs. Florence W. Thurston respectfully shows that Amelia Barre is a minor over the age of 14 years and a resident of this county. That said minor has heretofore been residing with her mother, Mrs. Y. A. Perrot, but, as this petitioner is informed and believes, has been compelled to leave her home on account of ill treatment, and has applied to this petitioner for protection, maintenance and support. Your petitioner further shows that said minor has relatives in this county, to-wit: The mother named and John and Peter Barre, brothers, under the age of 14 years. Further, that said minor has no guardian of her person, except the mother. Further, your petitioner is informed and believes that said parent has abused her parental authority and has maltreated and ill-used said minor, and has driven her from her home.

"Therefore, your petitioner prays that a guardian of said minor be appointed. That said minor may nominate a fit and proper person in that behalf, and that before making such appointment the court cause such notice as may appear reasonable to be given to the parent and relatives of said minor and fix a date for hearing on this petition."

PROBATE ORDERS.
In the Probate Court Judge Pierce yesterday made the following orders:

Estate and guardianship of Tedford minors, resignation of C. B. Dinwiddie as guardian accepted; estate of C. T. A. de Alvarado, sale of realty confirmed; estate of George McMillen, deceased, final account allowed and distribution ordered; estate of J. G. Miller, deceased, sale of realty confirmed; estate of J. Yesterday's Routine Business in the Police Courts.
In the Police Court yesterday, Charles Backer, who had been arrested the evening previous by Officer Robbins for stealing a bicycle, was ordered taken to Ontario for trial.

A number of Celestials were in court on the charge of selling lottery tickets. Ah Wai was found guilty of that offense, and was given $25 or twenty-five days. He signified his intention of giving notice of appeal.
W. A. Stude, alias Smiley, was arraigned on a charge of disturbing the peace. Late the night before, Stude came to his home at No. 2124 Boylston st., and appeared to be inclined to make trouble with his family. His wife finally left the place and went to the house of a neighbor. Stude followed, and pounded loudly on the door. Officer McKenzie, who lived near by, was called, and the man was placed under arrest. Stude's trial was set for today.

YOU GET STRONG, if you're a tired-out or "run-down" woman, with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And, if you suffer from any "female complaint" or disorder, you get well. For these two things—to build up women's strength, and to cure women's ailments—this is the only medicine that's guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, your money is returned. On these terms, what else can be "just as good" for you to buy?

The "Prescription" regulates and promotes all the natural functions, never conflicts with them, and is perfectly harmless in its use. It cures the female system. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and vigor. It cures ulcerations, displacements, bearing-down sensations, periodical pains, and every chronic weakness or irregularity, it's a remedy that safely and permanently cures.

Not having the necessary range for so many horses I have concluded to dispose of my entire lot of highly bred trotting stock at Public Auction, without reserve, to the highest bidder. The stock consists of my standard bred and registered trotting stallion, RAYMON (12.00), race record 2:24, and about 25 head of his sons and daughters; also their dams, some in foal to him and the others in foal to McKinney, 2:18. The mares represent the blood of some of our most noted sires. This is the best lot of stock that has ever been offered by any one breeder in the State. They are all grand individuals, highly bred and first-class in every way. Parties who attend this sale can do so with the utmost confidence as this stock will be sold to the highest bidder. Catalogues with tabulated breeding of this stock will be out on September 2, and can be had at the office of E. W. Noyes, 216 N. Spring st.

Whittier Cadets About to Leave Catalina.

A Breezy Budget from Long Beach of Social and Business Items—People Who Come and Go at the Different Resorts.

LONG BEACH.

The Board of Equalization has concluded its labor, and the tax levy has been fixed at 90 cents per $100 valuation. A son has been born to the household of J. H. Darby of Ocean Rest. The youngster is No. ten in the family, and exactly completes a double quartet of sons.

The remains of Charles, son of George Blount and wife, were taken to El Modena for interment on Wednesday. The boy died on Monday morning, after a long illness.

The Hattie had a full complement of passengers when she sailed on her two days' cruise to and around Catalina Island Tuesday. Something over forty excursionists took passage on her.

The tubercle season is closed, and only the regular Sunday services now disturb its solitude.

A son of Indiana's famous Congressman, Holman, has taken a lease of the Lowe cottage, and with his family, is enjoying the sea and air here for a season.

J. H. Frederick of Riverside is in a cottage here with his family.

Dr. J. W. W. has been called home by the serious illness of his brother, G. A. Wood. He will be absent several days.

Trustee M. Mulling of Pasadena, who, with his family, has been at the beach for the past two or three months, will return to his "Crown of the Valley" home today.

P. W. Stevens, late of Wisconsin, who has been investigating the advantages of the whole country, has brought his family to the beach and taken possession of the Sanborn cottage, while he looks closer into the claims of this locality.

Representatives of at least twenty Eastern families who are anxious to find desirable homes here.

Will F. Sweeney returned Wednesday from his vacation jaunt to Catalina.

Charles Taylor of Phoenix, Ariz., has been a guest at the home of H. Pittman for the past few days.

CATALINA.

The doctor is entitled to much praise for the excellent management of Camp Banning. There have been no complaints against the boys, and their conduct has been exemplary.

It is much to be doubted whether the same number of boys from any college in the world would have behaved themselves in so orderly and decorous a manner.

Quite a large party of ladies and gentlemen visited the camp yesterday afternoon.

A yacht brought over twenty-five very seafaring passengers yesterday.

Jewish catching is the order of the day. A party of four gentlemen went out in the Mascot yesterday early, and returned at sundown, bringing in three enormous Jewish fish.

Miss Edith and Ethel Shorb were among the arrivals yesterday at the Metropole.

Mr. Fox and Mr. Singleton have been reinforced by Mr. Hall of Riverside.

Mrs. W. McMurray of Los Angeles registered at the Metropole yesterday.

The travel to the island is still good, the Hermosa bringing over quite a goodly number of passengers on her last trip. The hotels are all comfortably filled, and the Metropole is in receipt of letters requesting rooms to be reserved for a week and more ahead.

Mr. Booth of Phoenix and Mr. Henry of Tucson, who came over for a two days' stay, will continue their visit for the remainder of the week.

During Dr. Fowler's absence in the city, Dr. Kurtz, Jr., has been attending the invalids on the island.

SANTA MONICA.

Another chapter in the highway robbery cases at Santa Monica was recorded yesterday. J. M. Carter, who was discharged a couple of weeks ago for complicity in the robbery of Carter, the Santa Fe brakeman, was again examined yesterday on the charge of holding up Col. Z. H. Robinson of the Soldiers' Home and relieving him of about $250 in coin.

As in the previous case, there was no evidence against the defendant, and accordingly, Justice Willis was compelled to let him go. Joe Brady, who had been arrested in connection with these cases, was also examined before the same magistrate.

The brakeman positively identified him as the man who had taken the money from him. The court, however, holding the defendant to be a poor fellow, made an order on his discharge, and the defendant was taken to the Superior Court on the charge of bail fixed at $1000.

The offices of the Santa Monica Commercial Company were closed yesterday for so long in the Keller building as to give a good idea of the number of tenants who have left the building on Third street.

At the Arcadia ballroom this (Thursday) evening, Miss Grace Remington Davis is to give a concert, assisted by a number of talented artists. Miss Davis is the daughter of Maj. J. M. Davis, adjutant of the Soldiers' Home, and Past Department Commander G.A.R. of the State.

The free Methodist camp-meeting opened at the City Park last night.

Miss E. Berroughs of Los Angeles is at the Arcadia.

REDONDO.

The steamer Bonito came up to the wharf Wednesday afternoon from up-coast points, discharging sixty tons of merchandise and 500 head of hogs, the latter being consigned to the Cudahy Packing Company, Los Angeles.

The Corona will call at the wharf today for 2000 sacks of grain, now awaiting transportation to San Francisco.

The Beulah has completed the discharge of her cargo of lumber and gave place at the wharf to the Compeer. The Beulah will clear for San Francisco, whither she is expected to lay up until the business outlook improves.

Attorney H. T. Gage of Los Angeles angled merrily and with reasonable success from the wharf yesterday.

The bark Hurlbert has not yet put in its appearance. It is understood that she is detained at Port San Pedro on account of some legal points that have to be determined, including trouble between her officers and men.

Wade Hamilton and family of Redlands have joined the campers on the beach.

Donald McKay, the architect, is dangerously ill with hemorrhage of the stomach, with Dr. Hannon in attendance.

Mrs. Herman Richter of East Los Angeles was among the beach visitors Wednesday.

Hotel Redondo was aglow with electric lights last evening, being the scene of an elaborate banquet given by Los Angeles citizens to Prof. Lowe of mountain railway fame.

I. A. Hayes, of San Francisco; H. F. Bullen, Chicago; and Frank C. Clark and wife, Palo Alto, were among the arrivals registered at the Hotel Redondo Wednesday.

FIRE COMMISSION.

Joe Supelveda and Engineer Lynch Suspended.

The Fire Commission met as usual yesterday with a full board present.

Chief Curran presented a communication which he had received from Superintendent J. J. Alkin of the Pacific Railway Company. It stated that on the evening of August 21, a fireman wearing badge No. 11 boarded one of the company's cars and was requested by the conductor to show his badge.

He refused to do this, and caused a good deal of trouble. This statement was verified by three persons who had been present at the time of the occurrence.

Joe Supelveda, whose badge was of the number named, was called in. He denied the charges presented against him.

It was ordered that he be suspended for fifteen days, and that he be fined $10, the suspension not to terminate until the fine was paid.

The usual number of requisitions were approved as presented.

On motion of Commissioner Brock, the clerk was ordered to notify the Council that the manner of supplying sponges to the department was not satisfactory.

Action on the petition of J. D. Egan and others, asking to have a fire alarm placed at Grand View avenue and Ninth street, was deferred until the improvements proposed for the fire alarm system should be considered.

A case of Engineer Lynch of engine-house No. 3, who was suspended some time ago on a charge of drunkenness, Lynch being charged with having been drunk too much, but stated that he had kept his engine in good condition, and in fact had not neglected his duty.

Commissioner Kuhrt said that he had observed that the man had been on a spree for a week at a time, and had left his engine in bad condition.

It was ordered that Lynch should remain suspended until September 11.

The following named persons were elected members of the new engine company, to be placed at Main and Adams streets: Engineer, Martin Wetzel; driver of hose cart, John Strohm; caterer, Dr. Kizer, C. Barringer and J. Noonan.

Commissioner Kuhrt moved that if the new fire engine should be accepted, it should be placed in engine-house No. 4, and that the old engine at that place should be located at Main and Adams streets. Adopted.

It was ordered that the fire-alarm box at Temple street and Union avenue be removed to Temple street and Belmont avenue.

On motion of Commissioner Kuhrt it was ordered that Mr. Neesler at engine No. 2, and Mr. Stoermer at engine No. 4, exchange places.

On Commissioner Wirsching's motion it was ordered that Burt Smith, of chemical engine No. 1, be transferred to the new house at Adams and Main streets, and that Mr. Jenkins take his place as driver of No. 1, the change to be made as soon as the new engine is put into use.

Commissioner Kuhrt moved that C. Fustler be promoted to the position of captain of chemical engine No. 2, and that F. F. Connell be appointed to fill the vacancy thus caused. Adopted.

Commissioners Wirsching and McLean were named a committee to investigate as to the sanitary condition of engine-house No. 3.

Adjourned.

FLORENCE HOME.

Encouraging Report of the Year's Work.

First Anniversary of the Charitable Institution Celebrated—A Very Interesting Programme Was Presented.

The first annual anniversary of the Florence Home for erring girls was celebrated yesterday afternoon, and by invitation of the directors a large number were assembled to listen to the annual reports, addresses and a varied programme. After an opening hymn, C. A. Jeffers led in prayer, which was followed by scripture reading by Mrs. J. M. Mark and a duet by Rev. J. M. and Mrs. Hervey.

The annual report was made by the manager, A. M. Armour. He reviewed the work of the home for the past year, the first year of its existence, calling attention to the fact that the beginning was made in weakness and ignorance of the work, and expressing gratitude to God for His great blessing upon the same. As months went by and numbers increased, weekly meetings were established, held for and with the girls. These meetings were graciously blessed, all of the girls in the home having, since their commencement, professed conversion, which is looked upon as marvelous. The work of the home is made and kept in order by themselves, and the clothes of the infants born in the home are largely made by them. The aim is to keep them employed judiciously. During the year, twenty-five girls have been admitted, nine of whom still live at the home.

High praise is paid by the manager and others to the efficient services of Dr. Elizabeth Follansbee, who has never been deterred by darkness or distance from prompt and faithful attendance whenever required.

An interesting address was made by the president, Dr. F. F. Follansbee, outlining something of the plan of labor and the number of talented artists. Miss Davis is the daughter of Maj. J. M. Davis, adjutant of the Soldiers' Home, and Past Department Commander G.A.R. of the State.

The free Methodist camp-meeting opened at the City Park last night.

Miss E. Berroughs of Los Angeles is at the Arcadia.

Hotel Redondo was aglow with electric lights last evening, being the scene of an elaborate banquet given by Los Angeles citizens to Prof. Lowe of mountain railway fame.

I. A. Hayes, of San Francisco; H. F. Bullen, Chicago; and Frank C. Clark and wife, Palo Alto, were among the arrivals registered at the Hotel Redondo Wednesday.

place, to many; its brightness has guided its inmates to friends.

The matron, Mrs. Mary Hilbish, briefly reported on the work of the year just closing, testifying to the harmony in the management of the home, and to the past as having been a red-letter year spiritually. She strongly urged the necessity of the directors securing for her work someone stronger and better able to assume the burden of responsibility, desiring only to retain her position until December.

Rev. J. M. Hervey made a strong address as to the spiritual power which has been manifest in the home. He was followed by Rev. J. W. Ellsworth, who touched upon the bright and happy look of the girls, and then proceeded to press a reasonable claim of some of the needs of the institution. The house needed enlarging, and it needed a host of common furnishings, and there were many articles of clothing which some one who had the means of amply replenishing her own wardrobe might contribute, without feeling it a loss.

After a report by Dr. Follansbee, the anniversary closed with a duet by Mrs. Beaman and Miss C. Morris, and prayer by Rev. George Cole.

A Small Blaze.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon flames were discovered issuing from the roof of the one-story frame dwelling situated at No. 438 South Spring street.

The department quickly responded to the alarm, and in a short while the fire was extinguished. The damaged house contains is less than $100, fully covered by insurance.

The building was occupied as a residence by Miss J. A. Williams of the Millinery store at 414 South Spring street. Miss Williams was feeling unwell during the afternoon and left the store for her home. She had an oil stove and made a cup of tea after which she retired. She was awakened by the smashing of windows and doors consequent upon the arrival of the department on the scene.

The fire started in the kitchen, and it is very evident that Miss Williams did not extinguish it with a cup of the oil stove as she intended doing before retiring.

On motion of Commissioner Kuhrt it was ordered that Mr. Neesler at engine No. 2, and Mr. Stoermer at engine No. 4, exchange places.

On Commissioner Wirsching's motion it was ordered that Burt Smith, of chemical engine No. 1, be transferred to the new house at Adams and Main streets, and that Mr. Jenkins take his place as driver of No. 1, the change to be made as soon as the new engine is put into use.

Commissioner Kuhrt moved that C. Fustler be promoted to the position of captain of chemical engine No. 2, and that F. F. Connell be appointed to fill the vacancy thus caused. Adopted.

Commissioners Wirsching and McLean were named a committee to investigate as to the sanitary condition of engine-house No. 3.

The "Highland" Brand

does not require a city ordinance to make it honest. It's all purity—sweetness—convenience, and should be in every household where sound milk is preferred above the swill-fed kind.

Babies Delight in "Highland!"

—their little hearts are joyful and their bodies nourished. "Highland Brand" Evaporated Cream, unsweetened, is made from the milk of our specially-chosen, hay-fed cows.

Freed from it's bulk of water, it comes to you—just a can of condensed nutriment and baby-fattener.

During the ten years that I have been located in Los Angeles I have treated and cured over 400 people who were afflicted with nearly every form of the various diseases that human flesh is heir to. Fully 97 out of every 100 that I have cured were weaklings that could not find relief in the other systems of medicine as practiced in Europe and America. Over 400 were given up by doctors and friends to die. Among the list of diseases I have cured are Piles, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, twenty-five forms of Consumption, Asthma, Bright's Disease, Blindness, Insanity, twelve forms of Heart Disease, Cancer, Tumors, Skin and Blood Diseases of every description.

In my system of medicine there are over 400 different diseases, I cure 387 of them. I use over 3000 kinds of herbs (no poisons), which I import direct, and which have been used in China 2000 years. I locate and describe all diseases by feeling the pulse, and in five minutes time. Consultation and examination free.
